Wife Of Alberta Cabinet Minister Active In Parliamentary Women's Work

OTTAWA — Mrs. George Prudham, wife of Alberta's minister in the Dominion Cabinet, is an active worker in association of Ottawa women whose husbands are members of Parliament.

The ladies have the reputation of being hard, consistent workers at the knitting and sewing projects they undertake. And Mrs. Prudham is one of the most enthusiastic boosters of this group which helps to dispel the loneliness of women who find themselves far from home with a husband who works, often, 16 hours a day on committees, parliamentary and party work in the nation's capital.

Recently the M.P.'s wives put on a display of work done by the group during the spring and winter months.

Afghans squared in warm reds, yellows and browns, were hung on the wall, and piled neatly in rows were baby's knitted hats, coats and bootees, at a display of work by the knitting group of the Parliamentary Women's Association.

The display held in the ladies lounge at the Parliament Buildings, revealed the results of many months of clicking knitting needles, and needles worked through cloth.

Two complete baby's layettes including diapers, sheets and clothing will be sent to the Canadian Save the Children Fund while the warm afghans will be distributed to military hospitals across the country.

Each Wednesday since March members of the group have met to combine their efforts in aiding the hospitals and the fund. The association is headed by Mrs. W. M. Benidickson.

Receiving guests during the afternoon was the general convener, Mrs. W. G. Weir. Conveners representing all groups of the association were: Mrs. Victor Quelch, Mrs. George Prudham, Mrs. J. J. Smith, Mrs. R. R. Knight, Mrs. C. E. Johnston, Mrs. F. H. Larson, Mrs. W. D. Wylie and Mrs. J. L. MacDougall.

Following the display tea was held in the Parliamentary dining room under the convenership of Mrs. Walter Little.

Farm Policy

The aftermath of two world wars with intervening depressions has brought about a complete change in governmental attitude toward agriculture. The historic attitude towards farming and the marketing of farm products prior to 1914 was that of non-interference by governments. The great depression was the main motivating force which brought about striking changes.

Today a political party could not achieve power in the United States if it opposed the farm policy now in effect. That policy provides for floor prices under the principle of unperishable farm commodities based on a parity figure calculated to sustain farm buying power.

Such a program has cost the United States government large sums of money. Consumers have also had to pay a reasonable price for their food. At the same time, United States farmers have enjoyed price security and have increased production to a substantial degree.

The Canadian government has developed a modest policy of price protection for farm commodities; it has not approached the generosity of what the United States has done for its farmers. The cost to the Canadian public has been comparatively slight. Of the $200 million appropriated by Canada's parliament for farm products price protection some years ago, only $10 million has been spent, according to Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture.

Those who oppose the policy of price protection for farm products are living in an antiquated agriculture. Farmers have seen how business interests develop price protection through close organization. Those same farmers are determined never again to expose themselves to the vagaries and uncertainties of the speculative market which is unable to provide them with any kind of price protection.

A Man-Made Satellite

Recently, Werner von Braun, in a lecture delivered in Huntsville, Ala., declared that it was possible to build a wheel-shaped satellite 250 feet wide that could travel around the earth, in about two hours, maintaining a distance of about a thousand miles from this world.

Three German engineers, U. T. Bodewadt, R. Hanisch, and R. Engle, think that the most practical orbit for an artificial satellite is one about 365 miles away. Their calculations indicate that to build a 20-man, 510-ton outpost would take about three years and would involve about 375 flights by feeder rockets.

It is interesting to note that despite the many difficulties that must be overcome before an artificial satellite can be placed out in space, the most competent scientists agree that the project is possible.

We should remember, however, that the idea of an artificial satellite was discussed about a generation ago by a German engineer, Herman Oberth. His idea was that the satellite would be a filling station for rocket ships on their way to the moon. He also had the idea of mounting on the satellite a mirror two miles in diameter to catch the rays of the sun and to generate about 10 million horsepower. Oberth pointed out that this giant mirror directed at the earth could boil away small lakes or reduce a community to ashes.

It is indeed sad to note that military needs and the art of destruction have carried the scientists further in the development of rockets and atomic energy than our many peacetime needs.

Note and Comment

"The federal by-elections, the election in Saskatchewan, the election in British Columbia—all bad news for the Liberals. And the election in Quebec still to come," chortles the Ottawa Journal. But what have the provincial elections done for the Conservatives? They elected not one in Saskatchewan, fewer than any other major party in British Columbia—and will they even have candidates in Quebec?

Wisdom On the Farm

An affection invented by those failures who forsook the road to happiness to seek easy success in cities, that the dull-witted stayed on the farms, has ceased to circulate.

Time has proven that it took more wit and wisdom to reap the richer rewards of a farm home than it did to achieve true success in any other calling . . .

The wise young men and women see in the fine art of farming futures full of opportunities and the rich reward of fulfillment.

Woman Against the Sea

Mrs. Anne Davison has left England for the West Indies in a twenty-three-foot vessel, called the Felicity Anne. The last time Mrs. Davison left England in an attempt to cross the Atlantic, she was accompanied by her husband and they sailed in a seventy-foot ketch, called the Reliance.

The Reliance cracked up in a gale in the English Channel and Mr. Davison was drowned trying to reach shore safely. Mrs. Davison survived and has now set out on a second effort—this time alone.

An Atlantic crossing in a sail-boat as small as the twenty-three-footer, which Mrs. Davison is using, is a tricky business and at the mercy—to a large extent—of weather over the Atlantic. Mrs. Davison is heading for the West Indies, in an effort to make use of the prevailing winds and will need all of her skillful seamanship and strong constitution to complete the crossing successfully.

One cannot help admiring Mrs. Davison's courage, even though her judgment might be a bit less deserving of praise.

Perpetual Motion?

Commander Ivan Monk, of the Navy's Bureau of Ships, has obtained a patent for a rotary engine, powered by atmospheric energy. It will run for years without fuel and requires only a small amount of water to operate. The engine draws its power from differences in temperature.

Sealed within the engine is a liquid with a low boiling point that alternately condenses (in a cylinder cooled by evaporation of water from a wick) and vaporizes (in a hollow wheel).

The uneven distribution of liquid in the spokes causes the wheel to turn.

Commander Monk kept a gadget like this in operation on his desk for over a year and now he is convinced that it might operate for many years at a time, as long as there is water. That is, perhaps, the nearest approach to perpetual motion yet developed by man, although the naval officer's gadget is of little practical use.

Brigadier in a Hurry

Commons Hansard

H. W. Herridge (Kootenay West): I was coming to Ottawa for this session, and the train stopped at a prairie city for 40 minutes. Like most people, I got out of the train and walked around the station.

I went to get back about 20 minutes before the train left. A C.P.R. constable was standing there. He said: "I am very sorry but you cannot get on. They are switching sleeping cars, or something." So we stood there. In front of me was a lady with a baby in her arms.

Along came a brigadier and he said: "Stand aside, please." So the lady with her baby in her arms stood aside, and he went on to the platform and got in a coach. I said to the C.P.R. constable: "Why did you let him through and keep the mother with her baby in her arms standing here for 20 minutes?"

He said: "Sorry, sir, that is orders; he is a brigadier." That shows a complete lack of democracy and of the things we stand for.

The wise merchant is he who puts the "ad" in trade.

INCREASED MUNICIPAL DEBTS EXCEED LARGE PROVINCIAL SURPLUSES

By EVA K. COOK

Promise of increased grants to municipalities made by Mr. Manning at his nomination convention has loosened a flood of demands by ratepayers of cities, towns, villages and municipal districts. What is their rightful share of government responsibility? From where should the money come to meet their obligations?

PROVINCIAL REVENUES UP

Bonuses for the right to drill for oil on lands where the mineral rights are vested in the government of Alberta are swelling the bank accounts of the province. Meanwhile the actual drilling, pipeline development and use of exploration equipment has doubled and tripled the financial load on the junior governments, municipal and school.

MUNICIPAL DEBTS UP

Costs of road construction and maintenance, drainage, weed control, schools, telephones, and general administration have increased by leaps and bounds, while the provincial government can brag of surpluses and talk of a debt-free province. But even with taxes increasing, tenfold in some instances, municipal debt has surged up and exceeded the provincial surpluses. The net result to the Alberta ratepayer is an increase in debt rather than any lessening in the demands to pay, and pay.

PROVINCIAL GRANTS UP—BUT

Repeated requests to the provincial cabinet and departmental heads have resulted in nothing more than a generalized stepping-up of government grants. These have not begun to meet the increased demands on the treasuries of local governments. Municipal districts have had their budgets doubled and tripled. Towns and villages have been faced with new housing problems, sanitation, necessitating water mains and sewage systems, and additions to administrative staff and quarters.

IMPOSSIBLE TO CARRY ON

Increased expenditures have reached a point where it is impossible for them to meet the responsibilities imposed by the provincial statutes from the sources permitted by the same statutes. Assessment, taxation, licenses, fees and government grants are the bases for municipal revenue. All these are ringed around by provincial rules, most of which are limiting factors. The Act under which local governments operate are designed for normal conditions. They do not meet the need of transient and sudden expansion.

NEW DEAL DEMANDED

"If returned to power in 1952," Mr. Manning says grants will be increased. Many municipal officers are prepared to deny that grants even if increased can meet the situation. What is urgently needed is a complete survey and rewriting of the different acts that lay down the rules covering responsibility and income of municipalities in Alberta.

What is being demanded is decentralization of power, reversing the trend of the last ten years. The ratepayer through his elected representative must have his say. Complete provincial government control with puppet administrators is a present threat in Alberta.

Voice of the People

SOCIAL SECURITY

When a fallacy is stated as a fact, particularly by a man in a position of high authority, some effort should be made to present for public consideration the rebuttal opinion.

The Hon. Paul Martin, federal cabinet member, is reported in the press as having told a convention of school trustees, "It has been proved beyond question that quite apart from what they do to provide increased security and better health and well-being for individual citizens, measures of social security have an important effect in giving stability to a nation's economy and acting as a pillar of prosperity."

It is questionable that any of Mr. Martin's assumptions have been "proved beyond question." For one thing, social security measures do not give stability; they are destabilizing to the economy because they are inflationary. They tax away the fruits of labor of the hard-working and thrifty and give them to persons of a lower order of productivity. The latter then have spending money for which they have produced no corresponding volume of goods and services.

Also, in this compulsory transfer of income the government takes part of the money to pay to civil servants who themselves produce nothing. With more and more money chasing fewer and fewer goods, retail prices rise. Statistical proof of what the Canadian government's policy of inflationary social security transfer payments has helped to do to prices is to be found in Canadian government figures. In 1941, when the first social security enactment was placed on the statute books, retail prices were 14.9 per cent above the 1935-39 average. In April of 1952 they were 7.5 per cent above the 1935-39 average.

If the pillar of prosperity of this country is going to be social security payments, our future rests on a very shaky pillar indeed. Toronto, Ont. C. J. HARRIS.

Live Disposal Unit

The fancy questionnaire a house-hold appliance company used to survey Iowa housewives brought equally fancy replies. To the question, "What 'make' of garbage disposal unit do you use?" one woman wrote: "Four hogs."

Use Right Words

There is a great difference between the right word and the word that is almost right. For instance, you can call a woman a kitten, but not a cat; a mouse, but not a rat; a chicken, but not a hen; a duck, but not a goose; a vision, but not a sight.

No More, Please

This little girl had been in mischief all day long, and her mother punished her all day long.

Finally, just before supper, she was especially naughty and sassed her mother to boot. So for punishment her mother sent her to bed without any supper for being so naughty.

When she was ready for bed, she knelt to say her prayers. At the end of her prayers her mother was surprised to hear her say: "And God bless Mommy and Daddy, but please don't send them any more children, 'cause they don't know how to take care of the one they've got!"

"That's right."

"But tell me, is the company that made this fiddle still in business?"

"Of course not," exclaimed the assistant in shocked tones.

"Then it's no good," said the rich man, definitely. "What would I do for spare parts?"

Hard of Hearing

The rector was visiting one of his parishioners, an elderly lady, afflicted with deafness. She expressed her regret at not being able to hear his sermons.

Desiring to be sympathetic and to say something consoling, he replied, "You don't miss much."

"So they tell me," was the disconcerting reply.

Life's Sweetest Story

The old couple had just celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Now all the guests were gone, and they sat by the open fireplace, hand in hand, with her head on his shoulder, and reminisced.

"Mary," he said tenderly, "You're still my sweetheart—in fact, I've never had another sweetheart because I never found anyone as sweet and beautiful as you."

"Henry," she replied, "you're as big a liar as ever, and I believe you just the same."

Eleven-Year-Old
Voyager Undaunted

VANCOUVER.—An 11-year-old girl, Justice Wilson, of Edinburgh, Scotland, completed a long-cherished dream recently when she travelled unaccompanied to Vancouver to visit her grandmother, Mrs. Martha Fraser.

It all started when her grandmother left Edinburgh to settle in Vancouver five years ago, and Justice dreamed that someday she would visit her. The youngster recently left her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of Edinburgh, to make her first trans-Atlantic plane trip to Montreal and then board the Canadian National Railways "Continental Limited" to Vancouver.

The idea of travelling alone in a new country didn't scare Justice a bit for she was determined to visit Mrs. Fraser and nothing would sway her from that objective. She will stay for three months, then return to Edinburgh and to school in the fall, once more travelling alone.

Children are cunning and in manoeuvring to gain their point more clever than given credit for, as in the case of my little niece.

Coming to her grandmother, she said, "Grannie, some grandmas are so old and wrinkled and can't do anything. But you are not old and wrinkled, Grannie. You can do anything." Then lifting up her doll she said, "Grannie, will you sew the arm on my doll?" —G.R. Sanguda, Alberta.

My little granddaughter, age four, was out in the yard last spring when the first thunder storm of the season came up. At the first crash of thunder, the screen door was heard to bang, and into the kitchen she fled. "Oh, Mummie," she said, "I just heard the temperature fall." —Mrs. G. Huff, R.R. 4, Edmonton.

CHEVROLET

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLET TRUCKS
THAN ANY OTHER MAKE

Fact
No. 1

More truck for your money
Stack up a Chevrolet truck against any other truck, capable of handling the same payloads, and you'll see that Chevrolet gives you far more for your money. Chevrolet, for all its low price, brings you ruggedness, stamina, and exclusive truck features you won't find in many trucks costing a lot more.

Fact
No. 2

Rock-bottom operating costs
Many thousands of truck users have proved to their own satisfaction that Chevrolet costs the least of all to own and maintain. Valve-in-Head economy, in the four great Chevrolet engines, saves on gas. Chevrolet's special 4-way engine lubrication system reduces friction and wear, keeps oil costs low.

Fact
No. 3

Engineered and built for your loads
Chevrolet trucks are engineered to your payload requirements. You don't waste money by buying "too much truck" — you don't risk work interruption or slow-downs by buying "too little truck." Frame, axles, springs, body, brakes, and power are part of a well-balanced team.

Fact
No. 4

Lower, slower depreciation
Records show that Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring more money at resale or trade-in than any other make. Chevrolet's market value stays up because the value stays in. Here is further evidence that Chevrolet is the best truck buy.

3) How well the truck does the job is all-important. It's got to have the capacity, power and rugged construction to get work done—efficiently and economically. Chevrolet trucks are engineered and built for your loads.

4) The truck must be rugged, long lasting. That's an important part of over-all economy. Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring more at trade-in, for what they cost, than any other truck.

If these considerations make sense to you, take a good long look at facts 1, 2, 3 and 4 below. Then come in and let's see how a Chevrolet truck can save you money in your business.

If You Approve Of These Progressive Policies

YOU SHOULD

Vote Liberal On AUGUST 5th

As Liberal candidate for the constituency of Beiseker, I am pledged to support the Program of Progress laid down by Provincial Leader Harper Prowse. If, as a resident of this constituency, and as a taxpayer, you approve of these progressive measures, I ask you to work and vote for my election.

● Municipal Taxation—

A Liberal government would lighten the municipal tax burden by making a full financial partnership with the municipalities. We would share not only the revenues but the responsibilities too.

● A Better Deal For Education—

Hard pressed school boards would benefit with long-term interest-free loans for school construction. A Liberal administration will provide for equal educational opportunities for all rural school children, with the Province paying 50% of school expenses.

● Adequate Health Program—

A worth-while province-wide hospitalization program will be substituted for the present inadequate "dollar-a-day" hospitalization plan which invariably costs more than $1.00 per day. With free hospitalization for old age pensioners, the dread of ill-health will not plague the lives of our senior citizens.

● Protection Of Our Heritage—

The Liberal party will keep Alberta's natural resources for Albertans. Dissipation and waste of our oil and gas reserves will be prevented, consumers in the province will be protected on the price and supply of natural gas. More new industries will be encouraged to come here and make use of Alberta's natural resources in Alberta. There will be no export of natural gas until and unless approved by the people themselves in a plebiscite.

● A New Deal For Alberta Farmers

Mr. Prowse has consistently stated that a royalty of at least 2½% should be paid to holders of surface rights wherever oil is found, and cash settlement should be made in case of property damage in the search for oil. Immediate start will be made on electrification of 75% to 85% of all Alberta farms with large rural electrification co-ops given interest free loans to expedite the electrification of Alberta farms.

● A Sound Road Building Program—

During the past four years Albertans have heard countless promises of roads to come. A Liberal government will substitute action for promises of good roads that never materialize under Social Credit. Twice as much as in the past will be contributed to the building of municipal roads.

● Public Business Will Be Made Public—

Liberals believe in keeping the people, the taxpayers, informed on how their government is operating. A Liberal administration under J. Harper Prowse will not keep the public ignorant of what is going on.

Revolt In Social Credit Ranks Seen As Threat To Re-election

A growing rift in Social Credit ranks may hamper the government's chances of being re-elected next month, political observers forecast this week.

After 17 years in office the party appears to be heading into its second major internal struggle. The first was set off in 1948 over the cabinet's decision to shove Social Credit reform policies into the background in favor of concentrating on "good government."

The present battle shaping up is partially an outgrowth of the 1948 clash, but is also a result of the government's policy of natural gas export.

SIX LOSE OUT

During the recent nominating conventions, six members of the legislature were denied renomination, and a seventh was expelled from the league. In addition, two other members, once official Social Crediters, are running as Independents.

One of the six members denied nomination, is also running as an Independent. The six denied nomination were H. E. DeBolt, Spirit River; Clayton Adams and Dr. Lou Heard, Edmonton; J. W. Beaudry, St. Paul; W. S. Mackie, Stettler; and O. B. Moore, Ponoka.

Mr. DeBolt will seek election as an independent Social Crediter along with G. V. Boucier, Lac Ste. Anne, and Arthur Wray, Banff-Cochrane.

In Leduc, R. E. Ansley has been denied support from the league after being expelled for assisting the campaign of Mr. Boucier, but the local Leduc Association is supporting Mr. Ansley and will not put up a candidate against him.

Opposition parties are expected to turn their big guns into the three constituencies with two S.C. candidates, in the hope of picking them off with the Social Credit vote being split.

Both Ansley and Boucier went on record at the last session as opposing natural gas export. The member from St. Paul who failed to gain renomination clashed with the cabinet over welfare policies of Dr. W. W. Cross, the minister of health and welfare.

The iron hold the cabinet has exerted on S.C. back-benchers is blamed by observers to be the cause of the small-scale "rebellion."

In most cases, the rank and file of the local constituency organizations is siding with the "rebels."

The decision of the Leduc association in defying party bosses at Edmonton was described as "a revolt against subservience to centralized political dictatorship."

GOOD SEED FOR NEXT YEAR

Farmers are well advised to set up a seed field on their farms. This should be a field of good summerfallow from 5 to 10 acres that has had special care in its cultivation and elimination of weeds. Now is the time to prepare such a field for next year's sowing to high quality Registered Seed.

PROTECT YOUR CROP INVESTMENT
BY WINDROWING
THE McCORMICK-DEERING WAY

To prevent any damage to your grain crop from weather, insects, weeds or moisture, windrowing before threshing is certainly a step forward in farming practices—especially when done the McCormick-Deering way!

The No. 120 Windrower (12 or 15-foot size) handles the grain quickly and easily in its smooth operation. Adjusts to crops of all heights. Completely power-driven, it has the light draft that comes from use of numerous ball and roller bearings, and gears running in oil. The No. 6, in 6 and 8-foot sizes, is built for use on smaller acreages.

You'll probably agree with us that windrowing can mean a better grade of grain under many conditions...and now we'd like to point out how well a McCormick-Deering Windrower can do this job for you. Stop by next time you're in town.
